Hebrews of Washington Will Hold Grand Bazaar

Effort to Raise Fund to Enlarge and Remodel
Eighth Street Temple—Preliminary Arrangements Nearly Complete.

To raise funds for improving and enlarging their house of worship, the Washington Hebrew Congregation has planned to hold a bazaar and fair in the Washington Light Infantry Armory for two weeks, beginning Monday evening, January 20 next. Great preparations are being made for the affair, and it promises to be one of the most notable of its kind ever held in Washington.

At the time the present temple in Eighth Street was constructed, six years ago, careful consideration was given to the convenience of the Hebrew community in Washington, and the edifice was then believed to embody every feature necessary for a modern structure, and for furnishing ample space for the accommodation of the members. The more recent demands of the rapidly increasing membership of the congregation, however, have made it necessary to remodel and enlarge the temple. It is the intention of the management to improve the structure so that it will present a more imposing architectural appearance, and thus become a creditable addition to the many handsome public and religious edifices adorning the city. In planning the improvements, the management also has in mind the construction of more exits to insure the safety of members attending religious worship.

Plans for the Bazaar.

Plans for the fair and bazaar will be in the course of preparation from now on until its opening. The arrangements will be under the supervision of many different committees. Each feature of the affair will be in the hands of a separate committee, and the management of the entire thing will be under the direction of an executive committee.

It is the intention of the congregation to enhance the fair on an extensive plan, embodying in it features that will make it at the same time one of the most noteworthy and novel affairs Washington has yet seen. The scenery of the Light Infantry, in which the fair will be held, is to be described and adorned for the occasion on an elaborate scale.

The fair and bazaar, as a means to raise sufficient money for the required improvements, has been under consideration by the congregation for some time, but only recently were practical steps taken to put the idea into execution. The movement has been given the hearty endorsement of every member of the congregation, and there is little chance that the annual of the executive committee for the co-operation of the parishioners will not be answered quickly and eminently satisfactorily.

That the management intends to conduct the fair on an elaborate scale is shown by the necessity of the appointment of a legal advisor to the executive committee. Maurice D. Rosenberg, a well-known member of the bar, has been appointed to fill the office, which is one of great importance. In addition to the matters of advice to which he will be called to respond, the contracts for various purposes are all prepared under his direction.

The various committees having the affair in charge are as follows:

Gentlemen: I was recently taken with chills and fever, as the result of a long, cold ride. After suffering all night I obtained a bottle of "Elixir Babek," which relieved me in a few hours, and the malaria and chills were completely broken up before I had taken half a bottle. I consider "Babek" a remarkable remedy.
